

Captain's Duties

As a captain, your basic job is to organize your team, write down scores, and make sure everyone on your team understands how things work and when you are playing. Here's a list of specific duties you, as a captain, are responsible for:

Organizing Your Team

When setting up your team initially, you need to choose a team name and write down your team roster.

Relaying Info to Your Team

Some players may not have bowled before. Relay any messages to them regarding cancellations (there shouldn't be any) or any other important information.

Know the Rules!

It is the captain's responsibility to be familiar with the rules and make sure their team understands them. You can find them under the "Rules" page on the Bowlocity website. This is not a typical bowling league, and as such has its own rules that are different from what you may be used to.

Writing Down Scores

One of the most important things to remember is writing down scores on the recap sheets! We are able to find them electronically, but please write them down so there aren't any discrepancies!

Make Sure your Team has Fun!

This is a social/non-competitive bowling league, and the primary goal is having fun and meeting new people. It's a great idea to get your team together for a happy hour meet 'n greet before the season starts, and it's the captains job to rally their team to the bar, even if it's "just one beer"!
